Report of the Event

Name of the activity: Awareness of Dry and wet waste segregation

On 24-01-2024, an informative and engaging activity titled "Awareness of Dry and Wet Waste Segregation" was organized for 49 dedicated NSS (National Service Scheme) volunteers. The main objective of this activity was to educate and sensitize volunteers about the vital importance of segregating waste into dry and wet categories. The day began with an enlightening orientation session conducted by a local environmental expert, emphasizing the ecological significance of proper waste segregation. Subsequently, interactive workshops and a practical segregation exercise allowed volunteers to gain hands-on experience. The highlight of the event was the volunteers' active participation in an awareness drive within the local community, where they distributed educational materials and interacted with residents, promoting responsible waste management. This event not only enhanced the volunteers' understanding of waste segregation but also inspired them to become advocates for environmentally conscious practices in their communities.
